

IBU-tec Annual General Meeting approves 0.20 Euro dividend per share for 2018

Weimar, April 30, 2019 - The shareholders of IBU-tec advanced materials AG ("IBU-tec", ISIN: DE000A0XYHT5) approved a dividend payment of 0.20 euros per share for the 2018 financial year at the Annual General Meeting, accepting the Executive and Supervisory Board proposal of EUR 0.15 per share as basic dividend and EUR 0.05 as special dividend in light of 2018's extremely positive organic and inorganic business development. This reflects an increase over FY 2017, which saw a EUR 0.13 paid.

All Annual General Meeting agenda items were adopted with more than 96 percent of the votes.

Voting results information is available on the company website at www.ibu-tec.de.

About IBU-tec

IBU-tec advanced materials AG is a highly specialized, high-growth, development and production service provider in the thermal process engineering industry for the treatment of inorganic powders and granules. Thermal treatments of these substances yields both changed and superior material properties.

With the acquisition of BNT Chemicals GmbH, IBU-tec has greatly expanded its core business by adding BNTs tin-based and wet chemistry's product portfolio, thus significantly enhancing company positioning and greatly increasing value and revenue generation potential.

IBU-tec's business addresses worldwide megatrends such as green mobility (e-mobility and automotive catalysts), green economy (including CO₂-reduced building materials, rare earths, stationary energy storage) and medical technology (including artificial joints and dental prostheses) in cooperation with its diverse, international customer base. IBU-tec's market success rooted in its proprietary flexible technology platform, unique patented processes and the comprehensive know-how of its 235 employees.
